COMING UP

Its AGM time

OIRA OIRA AGM

Wednesday 19 April, 7 pm for 7.30

The business part of the meeting will be VERY short followed by a short talk from our new lock-keeper. We will be asking people what they'd like the committee to do in the coming year and appealing for people to join the committee.

Allotments AGM

From Nick Jackson: The AGM of the Osney, St Thomas & New Botley Allotment Association will be held on Thursday April 13 at WOCA @ 7 pm with refreshments and move on to business at 7.30pm. Look forward to seeing you there.

Osney Island Boat Club AGM

From Simon Stubbings: The 2016 Annual Meeting will be held in the Punter@ 8:00pm on the Punter on Wednesday 26 April at 8:00pm. The formal purpose of the meeting is to elect officers, approve accounts, and fix club subscriptions for the coming year. The meeting is in addition an opportunity for members and prospective members of the Club to get together, enjoy a drink and savour the prospect of a scintillating summer on the river. Unfortunately, our boat shed can only accommodate a limited number of craft. However, four of these belong to the Club and are available for use by members, so non-boat owners are catered for as well. All are welcome.

OXFORDSHIRE ARTWEEKS 2017

For the first time Osney is showcasing many of the artist and crafts people who live on and around the Island. Simon Pressey has kindly illustrated two new frogs for our masthead to celebrate the event.

Artweeks will be open for viewing on the Island May 20-21 & 24-29 May 12-6pm and Thursday May 25 12-8pm.

There are 4 venues on the Island:

- 2 North Street: Elaine Kazimierczuk: Paintings
- 15 East Street: Bianca Elgar: Textiles (open 20-21 & 26-29 May 12-6pm)
- 24 East Street: Maureen Ergeneli: Embroidery
- Cynthia Harper: Calligraphy & Rag Rugs
- 69 Bridge Street: Antoinette Ibsen: Paintings
- Louise Summers: Relief Prints and Rag Rugs
- Bob Summers: Basketry
- Annie Wootton: Sculpture, Drawings

There will be several artists exhibiting at WOCC, as usual, and more at The King's Centre. A full list will be available on a 'Trail Map' which will be circulated nearer the time.

Here are tasters for what you will see:

Bianca Elgar (15 East St) designs stunning silk scarves. Her latest series is inspired by visits to Oxford's Botanical Gardens: 'Even the simplest flower have amazing colours and many have traditional meanings such as love, passion or life which are reflected in the design.' www.biancaelgar.com

Bob Summers (69 Bridge St) works with willow, hedgerow materials and rush following traditional basketry forms. He makes stools from unseasoned (green) wood, usually ash, which he seats with rush or more recently, strips of recycled denim.

Louise Summers (69 Bridge St) makes prints - mainly linocut, monoprints and collages - and boxes which contain small prints and/or text, and a small amount of paper sculpture. She also makes rag-rugs using hessian, a simple hook, and cut up strips of old clothes.

Elaine Kazimierczuk (2 North St) works at Magdalen Road Studios. Her semi-abstract studies of meadows, woodlands and hedgerows are frequently large scale, but smaller pieces will be available www.elainekazimierczuk.com

Maureen Ergeneli (24 East St) makes intricate embroidery built up of many layers and often using metallic threads. Her work is often based on travels abroad.

Annie Wooton (69 Bridge St) makes mixed media sculpture often based on animals such as horses and riders.

Cynthia Harper (69 Bridge St) is a calligrapher and letterer in stone and is a member of Oxford Scribes. She also makes colourful rag rugs from recycled material.

Antoinette Ibsen (69 Bridge St) paints things that she finds around her: a vase of flowers, fruit on a plate, the pattern on the carpet.

Midsummer Brunch

Sunday 25 June, 11 am onwards

Opportunities for Island together are very popular – Christmas Tealights on the Towpath attracted more than 80 Islanders. This year we will be holding a brunch on the towpath to celebrate Midsummers' Day. We will also take the opportunity to remember Jo Cox in whose memory various events are being held all over the country.

NEWS AND VIEWS

News from West Oxford Allotments...a space to grow

With longer days and milder weather, we are hoping for a good growing season on our two allotment sites. Thanks to the Community Payback scheme, a group works with us once a week clearing overgrown brambles and rubbish from the perimeter fence areas. They do not work on rented plots but are gradually bringing uncultivated, unrented ones back into commission. If you already have an allotment, ensure that your plot has a legible number. Also, before the busy planting period gets under way, it is a good idea to bag up and take away your own rubbish. If you would like to rent an allotment at either Botley Meadow or Twenty Pound Meadow, the contact addresses are: twenty_pound_plots@westoxfordallotments.org botley_meadow_plots@westoxfordallotments.org Half plots are good for beginners while full plots are for experienced gardeners with more time.

New Osney website

We are very grateful to Jane Buekett for taking over the Island website. We now have a shiny new website at: <https://osneyisland.wordpress.com/>

Note: if for any reason we can't include the Directory in the newsletter due to lack of room, it will always be available on the website.

Water

Some good news

Thames Water has replaced the surface water drainage pump by the Wall of Doom at the junction of West and South Streets. The old pump was not performing as it should have been, so TW has replaced it.

And not so good...

Many islanders are still having problems with the water pressure and especially with combi boilers. If so, please contact Susanna Pressel on tel: 554001 email: cllrspressel@oxford.gov.uk and she will do what she can to help.

The Hollybush: the next chapter

From Jude Carroll: For most of 2016, things were quiet around the Holly Bush pub: its exterior was spruced up and the pub sign was removed. In the summer newsletter, OIRA provided a history of the pub's 'life' by Liz Wooley. (For anyone who has not read the full document, have a look on the Osney website <https://osneyisland.wordpress.com/> . At the 2016 AGM, we discussed having the pub designated as an Asset of Community Value. This required months of work, including getting support from West Oxford residents. The application went in in October and agreed in early 2017. Then, in February 2017, the Hollybush again came to the fore in Islanders' thoughts because of a planning application for change of use from a pub to two houses and to attach a third house facing the corner into West Street. The email list began buzzing, with almost 100 messages posted in a few days. Views were for and against the proposal, and often passionate about what residents wanted changed or preserved. People sent individual views to the Council but on-line posts helped shape the submission made by OIRA. The clear majority of posts opposed change of use (CoU) though nine people were strongly in favour. Those favouring CoU were largely reacting to the negative experience of living close to a poorly-managed pub. As for the design proposals, they too attracted some positive comments but most were against certain aspects of the design.

OIRA's submission reflected this overall balance: against CoU and opposing the design's non-conformance with rules relating to Conservation Area requirements, its overbearing height and size, and threats to the safety of pedestrians and cyclists because the proposed exit for cars is on a blind corner in West Street. But the story is unlikely to end here. There may be appeals, further meetings and other plans so let's all keep an eye of what the next step might be. One thing that this latest episode shows is just how important these issues are for many Osney Island residents.

Stop press!

From Susanna Pressel; After studying your 65 (!) representations, the planning officer has decided to refuse permission for the Hollybush application under his delegated powers. It won't now come to committee. This report contains a few mistakes, e.g. he has omitted to write in the word "refuse" in at the start and the address is wrong, but I thought you'd like to see this promptly. The applicant can, of course, appeal, or come back with an application that addresses some of the reasons for refusal.

Our local pharmacy needs us

From Sophie Scott: The government have enforced 12% services cuts on local pharmacies. Pupinder from Woodlands on the Botley Road says, 'they have effectively taken away our profits. It is such shortsighted action given the role pharmacies play in supporting overstretched GP services. These are extremely difficult times, that could put us out of business.'

Woodlands has a long history of serving our community. It offers invaluable medical advice and many convenient services, such as prescription delivery. How can we help our pharmacy survive?

- Please use the prescription delivery service
- Buy everyday chemist products there
- Help distribute flyers in your street promoting the pharmacy
- Top Favs! Pupinder would like to stock your favourite items -from vitamins to face creams - that can't be sourced at local supermarkets. Pop in and tell him what they are. Woodlands also has a consulting room and would like to invite visiting specialists such as Podiatrists. If you any suggestions, Pupinder would greatly appreciate your feedback

Good neighbours

The OIRA committee would like to resurrect the 'good neighbours' scheme that used to run on the Island. There might be someone who needs a hand, e.g. to buy some bread and milk if they fall ill, and there might be someone willing to give up the occasional half-hour to help a neighbour. We are looking for someone to match up people in need with offers of help. Please contact Susanna Pressel for more information or to volunteer as the link person.
